

Vernacular Communication Policy

At Absolute Broking, we believe that clear and effective communication is the foundation of a trusted relationship with our clients. To ensure every investor understands their rights, risks, and benefits, we provide important information in multiple regional languages.

What is Vernacular Communication?

Vernacular communication means delivering key information related to investments, trading, and market updates in local languages that our clients are comfortable with. This helps eliminate language barriers and ensures you make informed decisions.

Our Commitment to You

- We provide educational resources, market updates, and investor awareness materials in popular regional languages such as Hindi, Tamil, Telugu, Marathi, Bengali, and Gujarati.
- Our customer support team can assist you in your preferred language for queries and grievance redressal.
- We organize periodic webinars and workshops in vernacular languages to explain market concepts, trading procedures, and regulatory updates.
- All communication materials are designed to be simple, clear, and free of technical jargon.

Why is this important?

- Helps you better understand the trading process and associated risks.
- Improves transparency and trust in all dealings.
- Enables safer and more confident investment decisions.
- Ensures compliance with regulatory recommendations encouraging investor awareness.

How to Access Vernacular Communication?

- Visit our Investor Education section for language-specific resources.
- Contact our support team at support@absolutebroking.com or call us to request assistance in your preferred language.
- Participate in our regular language-based webinars and workshops announced on our website.
- For more information and additional resources in regional languages, please visit the NSE Vernacular Communication
- Portal:
<https://www.nseindia.com/invest/investors-home>

---

If you have any questions or need information in your regional language, please do not hesitate to reach out. Your understanding and satisfaction are our priority.